

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A massaging device which is straddled over the doorstep of a door opening at an elevated location coincident with a hard-to-reach back area and held in place by the leaning weight of a user moving back and forth and up and down permitting a self-administered back massage.